THE following Address from the Corporation of Dunwich in the County of Suffolk, was presented to his Majesty by Charles Long, Esq; one of their Representatives in Parliament, introduced by the Right Honourable the Earl of Orrery, in the Absence of the Duke of Grafton, Lord-Lieutenant of the said County.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty.
The humble Address of the Bailiffs, Aldermen, Freemen and Inhabitants of your Corporation of Dunwich, in your County of Suffolk.

Permit us, Mighty Sir, to offer unto you our Congratulatory Joys upon the Great and Glorious Victories your Troops have lately obtained against the Rebels; and give us Leave to assure your Majesty, we Protest against, Abhor and Abominate this Odious and Unnatural Rebellion; and we do hereby Acknowledge and Recognize your Majesty's Rightful and Lawful Title to the Imperial Crown of Great Britain, and will always appear among the forwardest of your faithful Subjects with our Lives and Estates, to defend you our Rightful and Lawful Sovereign, the Great and Certain Guardian of our Religion Laws and Liberties, and all your Royal Family, against the Pretender, and his Impious and Perjured Adherents, and all other your Majesty's Secret and Open Enemies whatsoever.

We Bless the Great God of Heaven for giving you a safe Arrival in this Nation, and for making all Opposition fall before you until you became our King and Governor; and we beseech the same God to continue to Protect and Defend you and all your Royal Family from all Treasons and Traiterous Conspiracies, and to put a final End to this Villainous Rebellion, and to prosper your Reign with long Happiness here on Earth, and Crown you with everlasting Glory hereafter. Given under our Town Seal in our Common Hall this Second Day of December Anno Dom. 1715.

Hague, Dec. 17. ' After many Debates upon it, it is at last agreed that the States shall publish a Placart like that in 1651. to Examine if there have been Corruptions in the State in the last four Years: To which purpose an avouant Fiscal will be constituted, who shall be as a State Inquisitor, and send the Discoveries he shall make, with the Proofs of them, to the States of the Provinces to which the accused belong.

' The Report that was spread some Days ago, that the Duke of Lorraine was made Governor-General of the Austrian Netherlands, has given room to divers Speculations with respect to the Interests as well Spiritual as Temporal of this Republick. In the mean time the States and the Emperor's Minister pretend to know not yet that the Duke of Lorraine is declared Governor-General, which makes many believe that the Imperial Court has been willing only to let that Report spread, to see what would be said upon it before they determine thereupon. However, the Death of the Elector of Triers, who was Brother to that Duke, diminishes already the Idea that some People had of the Consequences that might attend such a Nomination: 'Tis certain this State will interest itself much in the Election of a Successor in that Electorate, in order to obtain it for a Friend of theirs, which is of great Concern to them.

Yesterday the States received the News, that on the 12th Instant the Elector of Cologne had driven out the Dutch Garrison that was in Bon; which they have already so much resented, that the same Day in the Afternoon they let M. Magis, that Elector's Minister, know that he must be gone from the Hague in 24 Hours, and out of the united Provinces in twice 24 Hours. 'Tis said here that that Elector having been at War with us, cannot alledge any Treaty whereby he made Peace with this State, but that of Utrecht, wherein the Plenipotentiaries of France treated in his Name: So that if the said Elector refuses to be obliged by that Treaty with respect to Bon, and will adhere to the Treaties of Rastadt and Baden wherein the States had no hand, he must be looked upon still as an Enemy. On the other Side, the Elector of Cologne gives to understand, that he had nothing to do in the Treaty of Utrecht, against which he has formerly protested by a Manifesto in relation to his own Interests, as the Emperor did also with relation to his: That being a Member of Empire, and having made Peace with the Emperor, the States have no Right to meddle in the Affairs of the Emperor, nor consequently with a City that has been restored to him intire, by a solemn Treaty between the Emperor and Empire and France: And finally, that they having referred the Arbitration of that Matter to the Emperor, they ought to acquiesce in his Judgment.

London, December 14.

Yesterday arrived a Mail from France.

From the Gazette a la Main.

Paris, Dec. 18. Letters from Constantinople of the 24th of October, say that on the 15th of that Month there had been a Fire in the Suburbs of Galata, which had consumed above 100 Houses before it could be extinguished; and that the Jews had been the greatest Losers in it, of whose Merchandise a great deal was destroyed. They say further, that on the 12th in the Morning a Troop of Janisaries by Order of the Sultan came to the House of the Resident of Genoa, and having seized him dragged him as a Criminal in his Night-Gown and without his Hat or Periwig before the Camarain, who caused him to be conducted in that Condition to the Port, where they made him go on board a Genoese Ship then in the Port, without any of his Servants, and caused the Ship to set sail immediately. At their return they pillaged his House, and his Domesticks are since embarked on a French Ship: And they had suffered more if M. des Alleurs, the French Ambassador, had not interceded for them. The Disgrace of this Minister was occasioned by the Republick's having furnished Men of War to the Venetians for their Service against the Grand Signior. The Resident of the Great Duke of Tuscany being apprehensive of the same Treatment, absconded himself, and got on board an English Ship that was in the Port. Part of the Ottoman Fleet was returned to the Dardanelles when these Letters came away, and the Grand Signior was suddenly expected. New Levies are making throughout all the Ottoman Empire, and Ships are building in divers Places to augment the Fleet next Year.

A Ship that was a Coaster in the King's Pay, newly returned from the South-Sea, has been seized, it being discovered that she was sailing for Holland with her Lading, which is valued at 8 Millions. She was obliged to put in to land some sick Men, by whom the Discovery was made: And the Duke Regent having Advice of it, caused the Lading to be Confiscated. The Captain justifies himself by his Orders which he produces.
